We say goodbye to the degree programme Master of Engineering in Membrane Structures at Anhalt University of Applied Sciences and the founder of the IMS, Robert Off, on his well-deserved retirement. Therefore we sincerely invite all friends, employees, contributors, lecturers, former and current students to celebrate a big farewell event with us.

In addition to the pleasant conversations with dear friends and colleagues, we want to engage in a professional exchange and inform you about the current successful status of the IMS BAUHAUS® and debate the future of membrane construction with you in discussion rounds.

After packed days of knowledge exchange, we also want to make sure that networking and pleasant conversations receive their proper attention.
